

AbstractCosmetic article and related methods

5 The present invention provides a depilatory patch comprising a layer of depilatory composition carried by a substrate. The depilatory patch is arranged, in use, to be applied to the skin of a user and left for a prescribed time period before being removed. The depilatory 10 composition acts to degrade or destroy hair on the skin where the patch has been applied. The invention also extends to methods of manufacturing depilatory patches of the invention, and to depilatory methods using such patches.

15

(Figure 5)